You think in words and pictures and numbers. Wouldn't it be great to have one software program that works the same way?

Introducing AppleWorks 6, the latest revision to the best-loved application for the Mac. AppleWorks 6 is a compactly designed and elegantly engineered productivity program that works the way people think and work. It combines six core capabilities—word processing, page layout, painting, spreadsheet, database, and now presentations—into one easy application. By seamlessly integrating these capabilities with Apple's QuickTime digital technologies, AppleWorks 6 makes it effortless to incorporate text, spreadsheets, digital photos, images, sounds, and movies in a single document.

AppleWorks 6 delivers a new addition to your documents—powerful tables. Add a table to any document simply by dragging the table icon from the Toolbar; then take control of your table's layout: combine cells to span multiple rows or columns, draw new lines to add cells, move existing lines, or erase lines as needed. Like the rest of AppleWorks, our new tables can contain the full range of objects: images, digital photos, audio or video clips, and more.

Of course, we didn't stop there. AppleWorks 6 delivers a friendly new environment that lets you create impressive presentations in minutes. You can choose from several templates or design your slides from scratch. You'll find our design tools so familiar that you'll be able to use them right away.

The multimedia capabilities in AppleWorks really stand out in the new presentations module. Want to drop an iMovie into your presentation? Go ahead—and watch their jaws drop when you show them what you've done. When you're ready to stage your presentation, 25 slide transitions will help you segue smoothly from point to point. If needed, your presentation can even run by itself, using the loop and timed auto-advance options.

Three important building blocks complement the strength of this most powerful release of AppleWorks ever: a wide range of fonts, templates, and clip art. And supporting these building blocks lies the most powerful productivity tool of all, the Internet.

We've integrated AppleWorks 6 with the Internet. Need digital images to illustrate your ideas? Or a template for a birthday greeting card? You get free access to a vast online storehouse of more than 25,000 photographs and clip art images. There are also more than 150 professionally designed templates available. What's more, you can access the images and templates you need directly through AppleWorks—no need to launch a web browser or decompress files.

Internet Clip Art Storehouse

Find the perfect image every time, by searching more than 25,000 high-quality photographs and vector clip art images on Apple's servers. Download as many images in the storehouse as you like for free. What's more, you'll never need to launch a web browser, remember a URL, or figure out file decompression—every image is downloadable directly through AppleWorks.

Eye-Catching Fonts

AppleWorks 6 comes with over 50 professional-quality fonts from ITC, a leader in contemporary typeface design for 25 years. Hand-picked by Apple's senior designers, these fonts are just your type: Try elegant fonts like Bodoni and Stone Sans for memos and newsletters, or Jokerman, Party, and Arriba-Arriba for fun occasions.

Gorgeous Templates

Overwhelm friends, family, and colleagues with phenomenal new templates. Need to send a business letter, design a newsletter, calculate household expenses, or track party details? AppleWorks includes over 150 new templates exclusively designed for this product by professional graphic artists. Each template is stored on the Internet—and can be downloaded directly through the unique AppleWorks interface. No need to launch a browser, remember a URL, or decompress files.
